FROM THE DATABASE COORDINATOR

Exciting things are happening with consortial purchasing in the state. The Tenn-Share Electronic Resources Committee (TSERC) has been hard at work prioritizing databases for group purchases through Tenn-Share and through Lyris. The list of products that are being pursued for group purchases (pricing available by February) are now on the Tenn-Share web site (members only section): <http://www.tenn-share.org/node/297>. If you are unable to get in to the site, please create an account. It can take up to 24 hours after you create the account to be approved as a member.

See below for trials and information on ReferenceUSA and World Trade Press, a resource for international information and country reports.

Our free resources this week are the Columbia Copyright Advisory Office and Gale's YouTube channel, which offers tutorial videos on some TEL products.

Our picture this week, courtesy of James Staub, show one of the many vendors who shared with us at the DataFest. (Last chance to submit a DataFest evaluation: <http://www.tenn-share.org/EvalDF>)

REFERENCEUSA

Many TN libraries have requested discounts on ReferenceUSA. We have not been able to create a group purchase due to complications with existing subscriptions, but ReferenceUSA is eager to do business with Tennessee libraries. They will be offering Tenn-Share members discounts on an individual basis. See <http://www.tenn-share.org/node/298> (members only) for contact information, to sign up for a webinar, and/or to take advantage of free trial access (good through Dec 31st).
