From the Database Coordinator

Dear Academic Members,

Some of you may notice that we have fewer electronic resource offers than we have in the past for academic libraries. Usually we have many more for Academics than for K12 and Public libraries, but this fall it just turned out the other way. Rest assured we are still working on numerous deals for your library type. If you have any suggestions for the spring, please email me or one of the Academic reps on TSERC (<http://www.tenn-share.org/committees/tserc>).

Many of you already participate in Tenn-Share group purchases and are familiar with how we operate. However, if you want to brush up on the ordering process, you can read "A Tenn-Share Primer" in the K12 or Public newsletters (<http://www.tenn-share.org/resources/databases>).

See below for our current academic discount offers. Some have a deadline of December 15th so please don't delay.

Deadline: December 15th

CLOCKSS

CLOCKSS is an electronic archive that helps ensure that electronic journals, books, and other materials are still available if a publisher goes out of business. Although the small fee does not provide immediate benefits, it is an insurance policy for the whole library community. See the letter below or the CLOCKSS website for details. Please consider joining!

Discounted membership rates and other information available here: <http://www.tenn-share.org/node/654>

Deadline: December 31st

My Government

My Government is an easy to use one stop shop for complete, credible and in-depth information on the people involved at all levels of government, particularly at the federal and state levels, and exposure of voting records and bill sponsorship. Below is a slide show on the resource. More features are dropping in with the new year – and as campaign candidates become finalized and campaign funding information becomes available, this info will also be added.

For pricing, a free trial, and all the details, see <http://www.tenn-share.org/node/661>

Deadline: December 28th

Business Insights: Global

This unique resource offers the most comprehensive and convenient way to find full case studies, analytical tools, and in-depth statistical data coupled with deep research – and it lets users easily compare global economies, companies and industries.

For free trial access, pricing, and more details, see <http://www.tenn-share.org/node/662>

Deadline: December 15th

Streaming Videos

Discounts on two streaming video products are being offered, Ambrose Video and Alexander Street Press's VAST collection. Both include numerous videos appropriate for middle/high school audiences.

Ambrose offers 62 series of programs, which can be ordered by the series or by individual program. See <http://www.tenn-share.org/node/647>. Deadline: December 15th

Alexander Street offers its comprehensive VAST collection of videos. See <http://www.tenn-share.org/node/663>. Deadline: December 28th.

EasyBib

EasyBib Library Edition provides students with tools to enhance critical thinking skills and research habits, improve information literacy, and learn how to prevent plagiarism.
